

Dr. David Unger BA, MD, CCFP(C), FCFP, Diploma Sports Med

Dave is a family doctor whose career has many dimensions. He has worked as an Emergency Room physician, and a community based family practitioner. He has worked in urban and rural settings, and has worked throughout Northern Canada. His practice has, at different times, focused on obstetric and maternity care, sports medicine and it now centers on HIV/AIDS and the care of the marginalized of Vancouver's inner city. He is currently completing a Master's Degree in Bioethics through the Albany Medical School in New York. He hopes to integrate bioethics into his current practice, and to integrate his practice experience into the bioethics team at Providence Health Care.
