What is the Respect and No Bully Line?

A confidential phone service for Providence Health Care employees that offers:

- Opportunity to debrief your experience
- Information and coaching on how to resolve disrespectful conduct
- Support with filing a formal complaint with Human Resources
- Referral to free, confidential counselling and/or specialized coaching

Who answers the calls?

A separate branch of the Employee and Family Assistance Program (EFAP) that specializes in mental health and supporting individuals dealing with bullying and harassment in the workplace. The program is external to Providence Health Care.
