They create connections, trust and shared meaning with individuals and groups

Demonstrate a commitment to customers and service

They facilitate collaboration, cooperation and coalitions among diverse groups and perspectives aimed at learning to improve service

Mobilize knowledge

They employ methods to gather intelligence, encourage open exchange of information, and use quality evidence to influence action across the system

Navigate socio-political environments

They are politically astute, and can negotiate through conflict and mobilize support

DISTRIBUTED LEADERSHIP

Do these capabilities apply to all leaders regardless of role or formal position?

Yes... All leaders – regardless of their role, or position in the health system – must be able to lead themselves, engage others, achieve results, develop coalitions, and conduct systems transformation in order to create the Canadian health system of the future.

and No... For each of the five LEADS domains, 'leader effectiveness' differs, depending on the context in which an individual exerts influence. In different contexts, capabilities differ in expression.

To create a leadership culture, each person in the system, regardless of position or title, must exercise leadership when it is required. This is distributed leadership.

"Existing roles and functions of decision-makers need to be evaluated to ensure they meet the leadership needs of the new and emerging healthcare paradigms."

- Don Briscoe

"The mastery of the art of leadership comes with the mastery of the self. Ultimately, leadership development is a process of self-development."

- James Kouzes & Barry Posner, The Leadership Challenge
